SC: JUDICIARY IS BLEEDING...

SC imposes blanket ban on NCERT class 8 textbook over 'judicial corruption'; issues show-cause notice to NCERT & Centre; CJI says it's a deep-rooted, well-planned, and orchestrated conspiracy.

NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Thursday imposed a blanket ban on circulation and production of a NCERT Class 8 Social Sciences textbook that contained references to "corruption in the judiciary" and warned of possible contempt action against the education council's chief. Meanwhile, the Centre has apologised for the controversial chapter and assured that those responsible would face action.

A three-judge bench led by Chief Justice of India Surya Kant has imposed a blanket ban on any further publication or digital circulation of the Social Sciences textbook, Exploring Society: India and Beyond, Vol II. "Any attempt to bypass the order, including through electronic distribution or altered titles, will be treated as a willful breach and defiance of the court's directions," it said.

The NCERT judiciary chapter row escalated on Wednesday after the CJI sharply criticised the content in Chapter 4, 'The Role of Judiciary in our Society', as a grave matter, warning that the Supreme Court would not permit any attempt to defame or undermine the integrity of the judiciary.

Earlier during the hearing today, the CJI said that as "head of the judiciary, it is my duty to ensure accountability, heads must roll. I will not close these proceedings until there is some accountability. We want to know who the people behind this are."

He also expressed concern over the impact of the material, and said, "If you teach the entire teaching community and the students that the judiciary is corrupt — what message will go? Teachers will learn it, parents will learn it."

The CJI also noted that despite the government's claim that the publication had been withdrawn, it continued to circulate widely. In its order, the CJI directed that all copies of the book containing the chapter be immediately "seized."

Appearing for the Centre, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta said the government had taken serious note of the issue and moved swiftly once the objectionable material surfaced.

"The two people involved with this chapter will never be involved with any activity of this ministry in the future — even any other ministry," he told the court, stressing that the Centre was not taking an adversarial stand.

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal said the PDF version of the chapter was already widespread.

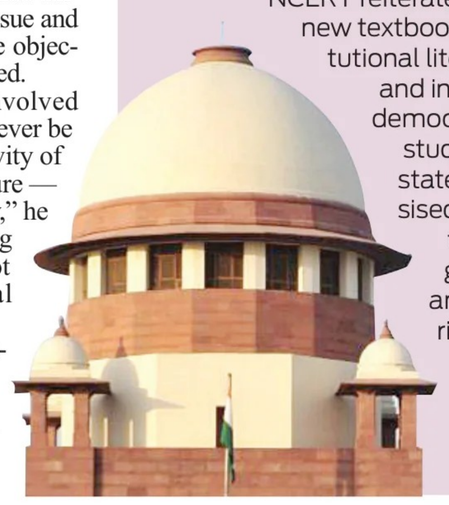
We would like to have a deeper probe. We need to find who is responsible and we will see who are there. Heads must roll! We will not close the case.
—Surya Kant, CJI

ORDER IN A NUTSHELL

- Blanket ban on book
- Contempt of court notice to NCERT Director and Department of School Education
- Copies of the book, be it hard copy or digital, to be removed from public access
- Details of members of National Syllabi Board who wrote the offending chapter to be provided to SC.

NCERT apologises

In the wake of the widespread backlash, the NCERT also apologised for what it described as a "purely unintentional" inclusion of 'inappropriate material." "The error is purely unintentional and NCERT regrets the inclusion of inappropriate material in the said chapter. NCERT reiterates that the objective of the new textbooks is to strengthen constitutional literacy, institutional respect, and informed understanding of democratic participation amongst students," the council said in a statement. The NCERT emphasised that it holds the judiciary in the "highest esteem" as the guardian of the Constitution and protector of fundamental rights, adding that the objective of the new textbooks is to strengthen constitutional literacy and institutional respect among students.



WEF CHIEF QUITS OVER EPSTEIN TIES

ZURICH

World Economic Forum president and CEO Borge Brende said he was stepping down on Thursday, a few weeks after the forum launched an independent investigation into his relationship with sex offender Jeffrey Epstein.

Brende, who became president of the WEF in 2017, announced his decision in a statement following disclosures from the US Justice Department that showed the Norwegian had three business dinners with Epstein and had also communicated with the disgraced financier via email and text message.

"After careful consideration, I have decided to step down as President and CEO of the World Economic Forum. My time here, spanning 8-1/2 years, has been profoundly rewarding," Brende said. The statement made no mention of Epstein.

"I am grateful for the incredible collaboration with my colleagues, partners, and constituents, and I believe now is the right moment for the Forum to continue its important work without distractions," added Brende, a former Norwegian foreign minister.

Brende has said he was unaware of Epstein's past and criminal activities before first meeting him in 2018, and that he regretted not having investigated him more thoroughly.

In a statement, WEF co-chairs André Hoffmann and Larry Fink said of Brende's resignation: "We wish to express our sincere appreciation for Børge Brende's significant contributions to the World Economic Forum. His dedication and leadership have been instrumental during a pivotal period of reforms for the organisation, leading to a successful annual meeting in Davos. We respect his decision to step down."

IN SHORT

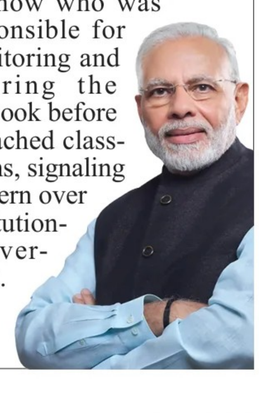
- Brende has said he was unaware of Epstein's criminal past
- WEF's Alois Zwinggi will serve as interim president and CEO

PM wants accountability fixed

NEW DELHI

"Accountability should be fixed", was the message from Prime Minister Narendra Modi, amid an escalating row over the National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) Class 8 textbook chapter on "corruption" in the judiciary, as per government sources. Modi, who is in Israel, questioned both the appropriateness of introducing such sensitive issues at that stage of education and the approval process that allowed the content to be published. He also sought to know who was responsible for monitoring and clearing the textbook before it reached classrooms, signaling concern over institutional oversight.



After DKS, now GP wants to be CM

BENGALURU

The power tussle between Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and his deputy DK Shivakumar has once again popped the question of a Dalit chief minister.

Home Minister G Parameshwara on Wednesday asserted that he was capable enough to be the chief minister.

Parameshwara, who was the KPCC chief between 2010 and 2018, said, "How many times should I prove my capability? I have worked as KPCC chief for eight years and brought the party to power twice. Did all this happen without my effort or calibre? I have served as deputy chief minister. So, no one should doubt my capability. I have proved beyond doubt that I am capable. It is only the circumstances and the party's decision that need to favour me," said the Koratagere MLA.

The demand for a "dalit CM" is once again gaining traction after the dalit ministers held a secret meeting recently. The ministers have been countering Shivakumar staking claim to the CM's post, citing hard work.

Congress MLA K N Rajanna poked Shivakumar, saying the Congress owed Parameshwara his "old dues" as he had served the party for eight years as the state president. "Shivakumar, who completes six years as party president (on March 30), is yet to break Parameshwara's record," Rajanna had taunted. Social Welfare Minister Dr H C Mahadevappa too made a cryptic comment that a dalit would occupy the CM's chair in the state, much to the chagrin of Shivakumar.

INDIA BACKS GAZA PEACE PLAN

Humanity must never become a victim of conflict: Modi

JERUSALEM

India and Israel on Thursday elevated their "time-tested" ties to a Special Strategic Partnership, with Prime Minister Narendra Modi voicing strong support for the Gaza peace initiative and asserting that "humanity must never become a victim of conflict."

After wide-ranging talks with his Israeli counterpart Benjamin Netanyahu in Jerusalem, Modi said India's security interests are closely linked to peace and stability in West Asia and reaffirmed New Delhi's backing for efforts to end the conflict in Gaza.

He said a "path to peace has been created through the Gaza Peace Plan" and reaffirmed India's commitment to such diplomatic endeavours. "India's vision is clear that humanity must never become a victim of conflict. The Gaza Peace Plan has opened a route to peace. India has supported such efforts. In future too, India will continue to cooperate and have dialogue with all nations," he said.

The two leaders underscored their shared position against terrorism, declaring that there is no place for it "in any form, in any expression." Modi said India and Israel have consistently stood "shoulder-to-shoulder" in countering terrorism and its supporters and would continue to do so.

"Our relationship is founded on the strong bedrock of deep trust, shared democratic values, and human sensitivities. Our bond has stood the test of every trial of time," the Prime Minister said, announcing the decision to elevate bilateral ties to a Special Strategic Partnership.

INDIA–ISRAEL FTA: FROM TARIFFS TO TECH

While security and strategic issues dominated the talks, the two sides also signed a series of agreements aimed at expanding cooperation in trade, agriculture, energy, cyberspace and digital payments. Modi announced the establishment of an India-Israel partnership in critical and emerging technologies, covering areas such as artificial intelligence, quantum technologies and critical minerals.

The leaders also agreed to work towards an early conclusion of a "mutually beneficial" free trade agreement, as part of efforts to strengthen economic engagement alongside the expanding strategic and security partnership.

AGREEMENT REACHED FOR USE OF UPI IN ISRAEL: MODI

PM Modi also added that an agreement has been reached for use of UPI in Israel. PM Modi further said," We will soon give final shape to a mutually beneficial Free Trade Agreement." "We have taken a historic decision to give our time-tested relationship the status of special strategic partnership. This is a reflection of the aspirations of both the nations," he said.

INDIA-ISRAEL FTA: NEXT ROUND OF TALKS IN MAY: MINISTRY

After the first round of four-day talks in New Delhi, the Commerce Ministry on Thursday said that India and Israel would hold the next round of negotiations for the proposed free trade agreement (FTA) between the two countries in May. "Both sides also agreed to continue inter-sessional engagements virtually. The next round of in-person negotiations will be held in May 2026 in Israel," the ministry said.

'No undercover work required!' Modi shares selfie with 'Fauda' cast

PM Modi's visit to Israel has been dominating the headlines for the past 2 days. Whether it was Modi's 'huglomacy', which was applauded by Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu or the recent pacts with the West Asian nation, this visit has been nothing short of managing and making diplomatic ties. However, the prime minister made sure that this short trip wasn't all about work. Taking to X (formerly Twitter), Modi posted a picture with the cast of Fauda—a political thriller series that revolves around covert operations undertaken by Israeli agents to eliminate threats to their country. In a jest, Modi wrote, "Thankfully, this interaction required only a selfie, no undercover work! #Fauda"

Anil Ambani appears before ED in money laundering case

MUMBAI

Amid the ongoing probe into Reliance Group of Companies, Anil Ambani appeared before the Enforcement Directorate (ED), on Thursday for a second round of questioning in connection with an alleged bank fraud-linked money laundering case.

The 66-year-old businessman entered the federal probe agency's office in central Delhi around 10.30 am.

Officials said that his statement will be recorded under the provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA). He was first questioned by the ED in August 2025.

The ED arrested former RCOM president Punit Garg as part of this investigation in January. The alleged laundered funds were "diverted" through multiple foreign subsidiaries and offshore entities of RCOM, the agency claimed earlier.

A day earlier, ED provisionally attached Anil Ambani's luxury residence, 'Abode,' valued at Rs 3,716 crore, as part of its ongoing probe.

The probe pertains to an alleged Rs 40,000 crore worth bank fraud by his group company, Reliance Communications (RCOM).

100 MILLION STRONG!

Modi beats Trump to be world's most followed leader on Insta

NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi has crossed the massive milestone of 100 million followers on Instagram, leaving US President Donald Trump far behind to grab the spot of the first ever politician and world leader to have accomplished this huge feat, officials said on Thursday.

Modi joined Instagram in 2014, and over the past decade, his account has evolved into one of the most engaging digital spaces among global leaders.

Among major global leaders, Modi's follower count is more than double that of US President Trump, who holds the second position with 43.2 million followers.

PM Modi's whopping follower count has even left behind the combined followers of the next five major international leaders: Indonesian President Prabowo Subianto (15 million); Brazilian President Luiz Inacio Lula da Silva (14.4 million); Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan (11.6 million) and Argentine President Javier Milei (6.4 million).

Notably, the combined follower count of the next five major world leaders remains lower than PM Modi's individual total, highlighting the scale of his digital reach and influence.

Observers point out that the Prime Minister's Instagram presence resonates strongly with younger audiences, both in India and abroad, reflecting changing modes of political communication in the digital age.

The gap is equally striking within India's political landscape. Modi is far ahead of all other Indian political leaders on Instagram. Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath occupies the second spot with around 16.1 million followers, while Congress leader Rahul Gandhi follows with approximately 12.6 million followers. The difference underscores the PM's dominant position on social media platforms among domestic and international political figures.

The milestone reflects a broader trend of leaders increasingly using visual and interactive platforms like Instagram to engage directly with citizens, bypassing traditional communication channels.

For PM Modi, social media has remained a key tool for outreach, governance messaging, and public engagement.

OTP & INTERLOCK NORMS PUSH LPG DISTRIBUTORS TO THE BRINK

MYSURU

LPG distributors across Karnataka have alleged that the OTP-based delivery system and stringent "interlock" norms implemented by oil marketing companies on the advice of the Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas, Government of India, have pushed them into an "inhuman and unworkable" situation. Distributor associations claim they are being treated "like slaves" by OMCs and have decided to approach the Human Rights Commission seeking urgent intervention.

The crisis has intensified following the revised five-day refill booking interlock norms. Distributors say the reduced timelines are impossible to meet due to manpower shortages, transport constraints, peak load periods and frequent system failures. Despite these challenges, they allege that Indian Oil Corporation Ltd. (IOCL) continues to insist on appointing additional delivery staff without ensuring adequate remuneration or assured cylinder supplies from bottling plants.

In the first week of February 2026, a Maintenance, Testing and Development (MDT) inspection at the Devangonthi Bottling Plant (DBP) reportedly led to reduced output, creating a backlog of nearly five days. Distributors point out that their closing backlog as on January 31 was less than 0.6 days, which surged solely due to short supply. "When there is no assured supply or indent execution target from bottling plants, how can five-day delivery targets be enforced?" they questioned.

Dealers further allege that nearly 95% of distributors are currently under interlock, halting deliveries for one to six hours until Field Officers unblock the system. They also claim that unblocking is sometimes linked to conditions such as placing orders for non-fuel retail (NFR) products.

Rural distributors say uniform timelines ignore ground realities such as terrain, distance and lower refill volumes, putting already unviable dealerships at greater risk. The mandated 90% DAC target, they argue, effectively translates to 100% compliance for domestic deliveries, which is impractical without customer awareness or official communication from IOCL.

Among key demands are simplified invoice cancellation on the fourth day without DAC, assured floor stock, execution of indents within 24 hours, suspension of interlock during plant holidays or SDMS failures, and limiting interlock applicability to 85% of bookings up to 10 days. Distributors have also sought appointment of a dedicated officer to clear interlocks daily by 10 a.m.

Calling the situation, a "nightmare," distributors warn that unless norms are rationalised, growth, service quality and market stability could suffer severely.

SPLASH FOR PUBLIC GOOD

Call to build modern swimming pool in Kuvempunagar

MYSURU

A strong demand has been raised for the construction of a well-equipped swimming pool in Kuvempunagar, one of the city's fastest-growing and most vibrant localities. K.V. Mallesh, Former Member of the Mysuru City Corporation and President of Aniketana Seva Trust, has submitted a memorandum urging the civic body to prioritise the project in the current year's budget.

Kuvempunagar, which falls under the jurisdiction of the Mysuru City Corporation, has evolved into a prominent hub for education, culture, healthcare, commerce, and other key activities. Over the years, several residential layouts have rapidly developed around the locality, further increasing its importance. With growing population density and civic activity, residents feel that the area requires enhanced public amenities to meet present and future needs. Highlighting the demand, Mallesh stated that Kuvempunagar is home to numerous educational institutions, industrial establishments, and sports training centres. However, it lacks a dedicated swimming facility for students, youth, and fitness enthusiasts. He pointed out that adequate land is available near Maralavadi Lake to take up the project.

According to the memorandum, a portion of the Maralavadi Lake land has already been allotted to the ISKCON temple. Another encroached portion has been reclaimed and developed into a park named after environmentalist Saalumarada Thimmakka. A further stretch of land remains vacant and is currently being misused for dumping construction debris, raising concerns about possible future encroachments if left unattended.

The Trust has urged the Corporation to either directly undertake the construction of a modern swimming pool at the site or implement the project under the Public-Private Partnership (PPP) model. It has also appealed to the authorities to accord priority to the proposal in the present financial year's budget. The memorandum emphasises the safety aspect as well. During peak summer, many adolescents venture into lakes, canals, and riverbeds for swimming, leading to tragic incidents in the past. Establishing more swimming pools within city limits would help prevent such mishaps while promoting safe and structured training. A well-equipped swimming facility would not only support children and youth participating in competitive swimming but also serve residents seeking physical fitness and recreational activity.

On behalf of the residents and beneficiaries, the representation has been formally submitted through Aniketana Seva Trust, with a request for wide public attention and necessary action by the authorities.

Awareness prog on organ and body donation held

MYSURU

'DHATRU' – An Awareness Programme on the Importance of Organ and Body Donation was held at Sarada Vilas Pharmacy College in Mysuru.

Dr. Kiran Nayak who was the chief guest, said that the rate of organ donation in India is very low, while the demand is extremely high. Due to various diseases and the side effects of many medications, there is a growing need for organs such as the liver and kidneys. However, as many Indians are not coming forward to donate, this has resulted in numerous deaths. By donating organs after death, a single individual can save up to eight lives.

Dr. Parashuram, Head of the Anatomy Department at Mysore Medical College, said that everyone should pledge to donate their body and organs for the welfare of society. He stressed the importance of taking a formal pledge for organ and body donation.

Presiding over the programme, Dr. Hanumanthachar Joshi, Principal of Sarada Vilas Pharmacy College, said that this initiative, being conducted in association with Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences, called upon not only students but also teachers and parents to take a pledge for organ donation and posthumous body donation, as it is highly essential for society and the nation.

The Secretary of Sarada Vilas Educational Institutions, Mr. Dinesh, and Management Committee Members Narasimha and Chandrashekhar were also present on the occasion.

22 beneficiaries get houses in lottery system in Chamaraja Constituency

MYSURU

MLA of Chamaraja Assembly Constituency, K. Harish Gowda, distributed 22 houses to beneficiaries through a lottery system. These houses were constructed at Ekalavyanagar under the JNNURM–BSUP scheme and were allotted to residents from various slum areas within the constituency.

Speaking on the occasion, Gowda said that, as per rules, a list of eligible beneficiaries had been prepared for the allotment of vacant houses in the G+3 model residential complexes constructed under the JNNURM–BSUP scheme at Ekalavyanagar.

Since the houses had not been distributed for several years, he reprimanded the Assistant Executive Engineer of the Karnataka Slum Development Board and directed officials to take necessary steps to verify the remaining houses and allot them as per the beneficiary list through a lottery process.

He further instructed the beneficiaries who received the houses to pay the prescribed amount, obtain all necessary documents, and reside only in the allotted houses. He warned them not to rent out or lease the houses to others and return to living in slum areas.

The programme was attended by Executive Engineer of the Karnataka Slum Development Board, Mohammed Zafrulla; Assistant Executive Engineer G.S. Ramachandra; Assistant Engineer Jhansi Rai J.; Devaraja Block President Nagabhushan D.; former City Municipal Council members; Indira Gandhi Block President Ravi Manchegowdanakoppalu; local leaders Shanmugam; Ward President Kumar; Tambi; and others.

Sustainability Is a Responsibility, Not a Choice: UoM VC Prof Loknath

MYSURU

Emphasising that sustainability and resilience must move beyond academic discourse into everyday practice, Prof. N.K. Loknath, Vice-Chancellor of the University of Mysore, called upon scholars to integrate knowledge with social responsibility.

Delivering his inaugural address at a national conference on 'Ecological Approaches for resilient and transformative home science' here on Thursday, he said sustainability is no longer optional but a responsibility, while resilience is not an abstract idea but an urgent necessity. Transformation must be a continuous process within institutions, communities, and daily life.

Highlighting the unique role of Home Science, the VC described the discipline as a powerful bridge between science and society. It connects laboratory research with lived realities areas such as sustainable food systems, resource-conscious living, community outreach, and human development demonstrate how academic knowledge can be translated into practical and impactful solutions.

Referring to the university's legacy, Prof Loknath said the century-old institution has consistently combined academic excellence with social relevance. The university's NAAC 'A' Grade accreditation in its fourth cycle and national recognition reflect its continued commitment to responsible scholarship. The conference is an extension of this commitment.

He observed that ecological harmony is not a modern concept but a timeless principle rooted in India's cultural and philosophical traditions. These traditions stress the balance between human aspiration and natural limits, and between progress and preservation.

Over the two-day conference, plenary sessions, panel discussions, and technical presentations will explore contemporary research in Home Science. The Vice-Chancellor expressed hope that the deliberations would foster collaboration across institutions, disciplines, and generations.

Encouraging young scholars to actively engage, he urged them to treat the conference as a platform for dialogue, critical inquiry, and long-term academic networking.

A BLUEPRINT OF MODERN WELLNESS

Former Director of the Central Food Technological Research Institute (CFTRI), Dr V. Prakash, said that Home Science is the unrecognized foundation of today's multibillion-dollar wellness, ergonomics and nutrition industries.

Tracing the origins of Home Science to the early 20th century, he said when pioneering scientists began applying the principles of chemistry, biology and physics not merely to industry or warfare, but to the human life cycle and household systems. At a time when "hard sciences" focused on factories and machines, Home Science treated the household as a biological and chemical ecosystem.

He stressed that the discipline created one of the first rigorous academic pathways for women, transforming traditional domestic practices into evidence-based science. Rather than simply managing homes, practitioners of Home Science engineered systems that improved human health and well-being. Home Science researchers were instrumental in establishing the first Recommended Dietary Allowances (RDAs) and advancing the study of bioavailability, demonstrating how food preparation methods influence nutrient absorption. Their longitudinal research helped evolve the 1940s "Basic Seven" food guidelines into modern, evidence-based models such as MyPlate, now used globally to combat lifestyle diseases. Dr Prakash observed that in the 21st century, Home Science principles are reflected in wearable health technologies, sustainable architecture and developmental psychology. As the world moves toward personalized healthcare and environmental resilience, Solutions lie not only in pharmacies, but in scientifically designed household systems, particularly through women-centric initiatives.

Dr Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji of Suttur Mutt, KSOU VC Dr Sharanappa Halase, Prof Ashok S Alur, VC, Kodagu University, Prof V Bharati Harishankar, VC, Avinashilingam Institute for Home Science and Higher Education for Women, Coimbatorem M.K.Savita, registrar, UoM, Prof Naveen Kumar, Registrar, KSOU and others were present.

Strong opposition has emerged against the proposal to revise and modify the electricity tariff for the Irrigation Pump Set LT-4 category by 95 paise. Former Mayor and President of the Mysore Industries Association, Vishwanath, along with Suresh Kumar Jain, General Secretary of the MSME Council, have urged the Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Commission (KERC) to categorically reject the proposal placed by Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC).

They questioned the rationale behind revising the irrigation LT-4 tariff when KERC had already revised power tariffs on March 27, 2025, issuing an order valid for three years. "What is the justice in increasing the rates for industrial and commercial consumers while determining a lower rate for the irrigation LT-4 category, merely to reduce the government's burden of cross-subsidy arrears amounting to ₹4,619 crore?" they asked.

According to them, the subsidy expected from the government stood at ₹20,640 crore. However, only ₹16,021 crore was provided in the budget, leaving a shortfall of ₹4,619 crore. They maintained that since tariffs for 2026-27 have already been determined, power supply companies must strive to secure the full subsidy amount in the present budget rather than shifting the burden onto industrial and commercial consumers.

They also suggested that CESC, chaired by government representative and MLA G. T. Devegowda, should play an active role in ensuring that the entire subsidy due from the government is obtained.

Highlighting the grim condition of industries in the Mysuru region, the leaders stated that nearly 30 percent of industries have already shut down, with many preparing to sell their units. Another 30 percent are reportedly sick and struggling for survival, while only 40 percent are functioning well. "This is a deeply worrying development. If employment-generating industries continue to close, unemployment will rise, forcing many to seek alternative and uncertain means of livelihood," they warned.

In this backdrop, they appealed to KERC to firmly and politely reject CESC's proposal for revised electricity tariff hikes. They further suggested that the formation of a separate SE consumer category be considered in future tariff orders to ensure balanced and fair treatment across sectors.

The industry bodies have urged the Commission to safeguard industrial interests and ensure that tariff rationalisation does not push already struggling enterprises into deeper crisis.

The protest has been organized to press for employment opportunities and allotment of residential sites to farmers of Immavu village, who lost their land for the Chitradurga Layout project, and to the farmers of Kochanahalli village, whose lands were acquired for a golf company project. The affected families allege that despite sacrificing their agricultural lands for development, they have not been adequately rehabilitated or provided with promised benefits.

Leaders of the Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha have extended their full support to the aggrieved farmers and are spearheading the agitation. Among those leading the protest are State Divisional Organizing Secretary Hosakote Basavaraj, Mysuru District General Secretary P. According to the organizers, providing employment and residential sites is not merely a demand but a rightful entitlement for those who have contributed their lands for public and private development initiatives.

The Raitha Sangha leaders have appealed to the public, farmer organizations, and concerned citizens to extend their solidarity and participate in the agitation.

Fare Hikes Push City Commuters Back to Private Vehicles

Making Metro travel expensive in Bengaluru, a city already notorious for traffic congestion, is driving commuters back to personal vehicles

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

Frequent fare hikes and gaps in last-mile connectivity are undoing the gains of Namma Metro, once hailed as fast, safe, and affordable. Residents now perceive Metro commuting as costly and inconvenient, prompting a surge in two-wheelers and cars on city roads, especially during peak hours. Traffic police report slower flows and more congestion as a result.

Transport data shows Bengaluru has over 80 lakh registered two-wheelers in 2026. Officers warn that continued reliance on private vehicles will worsen travel times in coming months. Unni Krishna Menon, who previously commuted by Metro between Jalahalli and Indiranagar, has returned to using his car. "The Metro costs Rs 70 one way, plus Rs 30 for four hours of parking. I still need an autorickshaw or cab to reach Domlur. Filling my car with Rs 500 petrol lasts 2.5 days, which is cheaper," Menon explained.

College student Jatin Polanki shared a similar story. "I used to take the Metro from Pattanagere to Majestic for Rs 30. After fare hikes and early morning classes, I switched to my bike. For Rs 100, I can go to college, roam around, and return," he said.

Resident welfare groups caution that high user charges for essential services can be counterproductive. Christopher Cruz of NERWA emphasized, "Public transport is any city's lifeline and vital to decongesting Bengaluru. Revenue considerations should not compromise accessibility." Some commuters note that cost is not the only factor; convenience, speed, and connectivity also influence travel choices.

With fares climbing and first- and last-mile options limited, Bengaluru risks undoing years of investment in sustainable urban mobility, as more citizens return to cars and bikes, adding strain to already crowded roads.

ESCOMS Seek Tariff Hike; KERC Reserves Decision Pending Review

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Commission (KERC) reserved its orders on a review petition filed by Electricity Supply Companies (ESCOMS) seeking a revision in tariffs for commercial and industrial consumers. The petition cited a revenue shortfall of Rs 4,620 crore, largely due to subsidies extended to Irrigation Pump (IP) sets. While the state finance department has agreed to release Rs 2,362 crore, the utilities plan to cover the remaining gap through Rs 1,254 crore from tariff hikes on commercial and industrial users and Rs 1,107 crore from miscellaneous sources.

If approved, the revision could directly affect industries, traders, small businesses, and commercial establishments, with an indirect impact on consumers as higher operational costs may translate into increased prices of goods and services. ESCOMS argued that cross-subsidisation—where industrial and commercial users subsidise categories such as farmers—is an established feature of the power sector. They added that revising tariffs is critical to maintain financial stability and ensure uninterrupted electricity supply.

Industry bodies voiced strong opposition. The Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FKCCI) and the MSME Council of Mysuru stated that the financial burden should fall entirely on the government rather than being passed on to commercial consumers.

KERC Chairperson P Ravi Kumar heard arguments from all sides and reserved orders, with a decision expected within a month. The outcome will determine whether industrial users, and eventually consumers, face higher electricity-linked costs in the upcoming financial year.

A proposed tariff revision by Karnataka's Electricity Supply Companies could raise costs for industries and commercial users, potentially affecting consumer prices.

The expansion strengthens Primebook's omnichannel strategy, building physical retail access alongside its digital-first foundation.

While online retail is expanding rapidly, personal computing remains a category where Indian consumers invest significant time in evaluation before making a purchase. . Industry estimates indicate that offline retail accounts for approximately 66 percent of the country's consumer electronics sales, underscoring the continued relevance of physical stores in high-consideration categories.

Consumers often prefer to experience a device physically before making a decision, especially in categories like laptops, where performance, display quality, keyboard experience, and overall build influence buying confidence. Ex-BBMP Engineer Dies by Suicide after Corruption Case

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

RL Parameshwaraiah, a 63-year-old former chief engineer with the erstwhile BBMP, died by suicide at his Koramangala residence after being booked last month by the CBI in an old corruption case. Parameshwaraiah retired three years ago and lived with his family in Koramangala IV Block. He left a note in Kannada stating, "I am responsible for my death. Don't trouble anyone."

According to family sources, he was scheduled to appear before the CBI's anti-corruption bureau on Wednesday morning. An FIR under the Prevention of Corruption Act was registered against him on January 30.

The case traces back to December 2021, when Income Tax officials raided a civil contractor in Bengaluru and seized cash, gold, and land documents linked to Parameshwaraiah. Subsequently, a separate raid at his residence uncovered over Rs 86 lakh from a bank locker, whose key was reportedly held by his wife, along with documents for several land parcels and properties.

Authorities are investigating the matter, while family members are grappling with the shock of his sudden death.

Karnataka HC Flags Misuse of Section 69 in Consensual Relationships

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

Justice Nagaprasanna observed that the registration of such cases often results in immediate arrests, even though the alleged offence carries a maximum imprisonment of 10 years.

The Karnataka High Court has expressed concern over an increasing trend of criminal cases being filed under Section 69 of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS), 2023, which deals with inducing women into sexual intercourse by deceit, including false promises of marriage. Justice M. Nagaprasanna, hearing a petition filed by a man accused under the provision, noted that several cases involve consensual relationships being suddenly criminalised after years together.

The petitioner's counsel told the court that the relationship began through an online dating platform and was entirely consensual, with the complainant herself acknowledging the nature of the relationship and even composing a poem about it. Despite this, the government advocate argued that the matter involved a promise of marriage, which falls under Section 69.

Justice Nagaprasanna observed that the registration of such cases often results in immediate arrests, even though the alleged offence carries a maximum imprisonment of 10 years. "After two to three years of a consensual relationship, a crime is registered, and the man is taken into custody," he said.

Highlighting the rise of similar cases following the enactment of the new penal provision, the court described the matter as a "classic illustration" of misuse. Noting the potential for harassment and overreach, the High Court stayed further investigation into the petitioner's case until the next hearing.

Since the petitioner was in judicial custody, the court directed his release on bail, subject to conditions, emphasizing the need for a balanced approach in applying Section 69.

The order signals judicial awareness of the fine line between protecting women from deceit and penalising consensual relationships, indicating that courts may increasingly scrutinise how Section 69 is invoked in practice.

HC Imposes Rs 10,000 Fine on Wife for Delaying Divorce Proceedings

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The Karnataka High Court has imposed a fine of Rs 10,000 on a woman for deliberately delaying her divorce proceedings, after she repeatedly filed interim applications and sought adjournments for over five years, despite having received Rs 27 lakh in alimony. The bench, led by Justice Dr Chilakuru Sumalatha, also directed the trial court to remit the fine to the Soldiers' Welfare Fund within three weeks.

The ruling came during a petition filed by a woman from Kanakapura, Ramanagara district, challenging a Family Court order that dismissed her plea to postpone hearings or challenge witnesses. The High Court noted that the repeated adjournments requested by the wife were obstructing the judicial process and causing undue inconvenience to the petitioner and the court.

"Such a liberal policy of adjourning hearings cannot be followed. Court proceedings cannot be conducted according to the wishes of the parties," the bench observed. The court stressed that misuse of provisions under the Family Courts Act and the Code of Civil Procedure to delay hearings undermines the efficiency of the justice system. "If such conduct is tolerated, no case can be resolved even in a decade," Justice Sumalatha noted.

The High Court also highlighted the wife's negligence and lack of cooperation in the continuous review of her applications. Her repeated delays prompted the Family Court to dismiss the interim plea, an order the High Court upheld, terming the Family Court's handling of the case as "highly commendable."

The bench further directed that future hearings should proceed only after the wife submits all relevant documents, ensuring that the case is disposed of without further obstruction. This verdict underscores the judiciary's intolerance for tactics that unnecessarily prolong litigation and serves as a warning to parties attempting to misuse legal procedures to delay justice.

RTI Act Not Meant for Accessing Spouse's I-T Returns, Rules HC

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

The Karnataka High Court has clarified that the Right to Information (RTI) Act cannot be used to obtain a spouse's income-tax returns for personal litigation, emphasizing that the Act is designed to ensure public accountability, not to facilitate private disputes.

The ruling came after a woman from Mumbai sought details of her husband's income-tax returns from 2012 to 2017, including taxes paid and the names and addresses of banks linked to his finances. Justice Suraj Govindaraj held that such information should be sought through judicial proceedings, such as summoning documents from the Income Tax Department or under court directions, rather than the RTI framework.

The court noted that I-T returns, assessment details, and related financial information fall under "personal information" as per Section 8(1)(j) of the RTI Act, 2005, and are exempt from disclosure unless there is a larger public interest. The husband was considered a "third party" under the Act, reinforcing that the information could not be released to the spouse.

Earlier, the Income Tax officer and Chief Public Information Officer had rejected the woman's RTI application, a decision upheld by the Joint Commissioner of Income Tax. She then approached the Central Information Commission (CIC), which in April 2019 directed the department to provide the information. The I-T Department challenged the CIC order before the High Court.

Family Donates Teen's Organs, Grants Life to 3 Recipients

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

In an extraordinary act of compassion, the family of 19-year-old Darshan from Mandya donated his organs, giving new life to three patients after he was declared brain dead. The organ retrieval took place at the Trauma & Emergency Care Centre (TECC) of Victoria Hospital, Bengaluru, where Darshan had been receiving treatment.

Darshan, the sole breadwinner for his family, is survived by his father and sister. He suffered a fall from his motorcycle near Chikka Mandya on February 22. Returning home, he went to sleep without seeking medical attention. Observing unusual symptoms, his family admitted him to a local hospital, which referred him to TECC Bengaluru after diagnosing a severe internal brain haemorrhage. Despite the medical team's best efforts, he was declared brain dead upon arrival.

Counselled by Karnataka's State Organ and Tissue Transplant Organisation (SOTTO) Jeeva Sarthake, the family consented to organ donation. Following this, Darshan's organs were transplanted to eligible recipients, prioritizing patients in government facilities. His liver was allocated to a 26-year-old male at the Institute of Gastroenterology and Organ Transplant (IGOT), one kidney to another 26-year-old male, and the second kidney to a 38-year-old male at the Institute of Nephro-Urology. His heart valves were distributed to another hospital.

Darshan's body was returned to the family at 5 am on Wednesday. Medical officers at Victoria Hospital highlighted the courage and humanity shown by the family, noting that despite limited education and socio-economic challenges, they made a noble and selfless decision.

"We are deeply grateful to the family, who even in their moment of profound grief chose to serve society and brighten the lives of others," said Dr. Asima Banu, Special Officer at TECC, and Dr. S. Deepak, Medical Superintendent, Victoria Hospital.

Seven Nelamangala Councillors disqualified by collector

DEVANAHALLI

District Collector A. B. Basavaraju has disqualified seven members of the Nelamangala Municipal Council with immediate effect under the Karnataka Local Bodies (Prohibition of Defection) Act, 1987.

The action was taken after the councillors allegedly violated the party whip during the election for the posts of president and vice-president held on February 13, 2025. According to the order, the members, who were elected under the Janata Dal Secular symbol, voted for candidates of another party instead of supporting their own party nominees.

The disqualified councillors are Anandji, Padmanabha Prasanna, Dakshayani Ravikumar, Narasimhamurthy, Bharathibai, Sharada Umesh and Lata Hemanthakumar. The District Collector stated that the decision was made after examining the complaint and related documents.

A complaint had been filed by district JDS president B. Munegowda under Sections 3 and 4 of the Defection Act. He alleged that the councillors committed electoral misconduct by cross-voting in favour of Congress candidates, going against the official party direction.

Based on the findings, the Collector exercised powers under Section 4(2)(iii) of the Act and ordered their removal from membership of the municipal council.

Such actions under the anti-defection law aim to maintain party discipline in local bodies. Similar cases have been reported in other districts where members were removed for violating party whips during internal elections. The order has brought major political attention to Nelamangala, and further developments are expected in the coming days.

Diploma student ends life in Turuvekere

TUMAKURU

Tragedy struck Turuvekere town when 19-year-old second-year Diploma student Dhanush from Goppenahalli village near Kondaji jumped into a water body behind the local Diploma College embankment, ending his life after posting a heartbreaking social media status: "You are happy, I am leaving the world." On Wednesday, February 25, Dhanush left home in the morning, telling his parents he was heading to college. He failed to return by evening and didn't answer their frantic calls. Alarmed family members launched a desperate search across town.

Their hunt led them to the college rear embankment, where they discovered Dhanush's bag, slippers, and mobile phone abandoned near the water's edge. A chilling pre-suicide status on his phone confirmed their worst fears. The parents rushed to alert Turuvekere police.

Fire brigade teams swiftly responded, retrieving Dhanush's body from the water body. It was shifted to Turuvekere Government Hospital morgue for post-mortem examination.

Police have registered a case and launched an investigation into the circumstances leading to the suicide. The poignant farewell message has left the community reeling, raising urgent questions about youth mental health pressures in small-town Karnataka. Preliminary inquiries suggest academic or personal stress may have contributed, though motives remain unconfirmed pending family statements and phone analysis. This incident underscores the silent struggles many students face amid mounting expectations.

Direct Railway Line To Be Ready By 2027

CHITRADURGA

The long-awaited direct railway line between Davanagere and Chitradurga is officially set to be completed by June 2027, fulfilling a decades-old dream for the region. Union Minister of State for Railways, V. Somanna, announced this deadline on Thursday after inspecting the ongoing construction work near Hampanuru village. During his visit, the Minister expressed significant dissatisfaction with the current pace of work, noting that only nine percent of the physical project in the district has been finished so far.

This ambitious project is a game-changer for local commuters, as it will reduce the travel distance between Davanagere and Bengaluru by nearly 80 kilometers. Minister Somanna strictly warned contractors and engineers to accelerate their efforts immediately, stating he would conduct monthly video conferences to monitor progress personally. He emphasized that once operational, this vital route will significantly boost the economic and industrial growth of Central Karnataka's districts, creating new opportunities for trade and local employment.

The Minister also made a firm appeal to local farmers regarding land acquisition. While farmers were previously allowed to harvest crops on acquired land as a courtesy, Somanna clarified that this practice must end to avoid further construction delays. He directed district authorities to seek police protection if work is obstructed. Additionally, plans are finalized to build a major railway station near Lakshmisagara, incorporating suggestions from the Sirigere Seer to provide essential infrastructure for devotees. With 192 bridges planned along the route, the government remains determined to meet the 2027 deadline and finally open this essential transport link for the public.

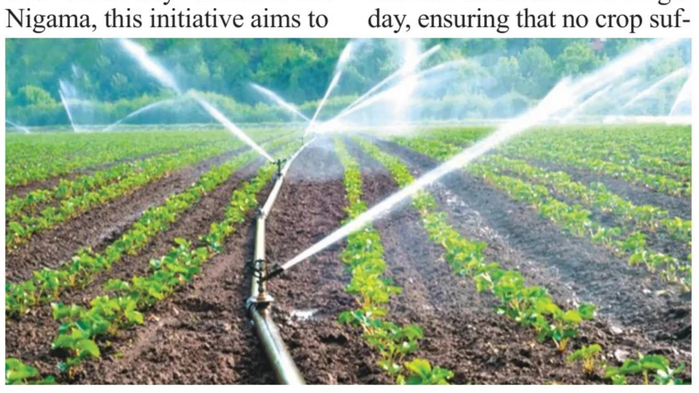
New Irrigation Project To Benefit Mandya Farmers

MANDYA

In a significant move to bolster the local agricultural sector, MLA P. Ravikumar Gowda officially launched the Vishweshwaraiya Branch Canal distribution work earlier today. The project, valued at five crore rupees, is designed to streamline water flow from Mallayanadoddi through B. Gowdagere, reaching all the way to Kannali. Executed by the Cauvery Neeravari Nigama, this initiative aims to resolve long-standing water scarcity issues that have plagued farmers in the tail-end regions of the canal system for several years.



During the inauguration ceremony held at Mallayanadoddi village, the MLA emphasized that providing a reliable water supply to every farmer is the government's top priority. He noted that once this construction is completed, water will reach the furthest fields within a single day, ensuring that no crop suffers due to a lack of irrigation. This project stands as a testament to the administration's commitment to rural welfare and sustainable farming practices in the district.

UNNATI scheme boosts industrial growth in Assam

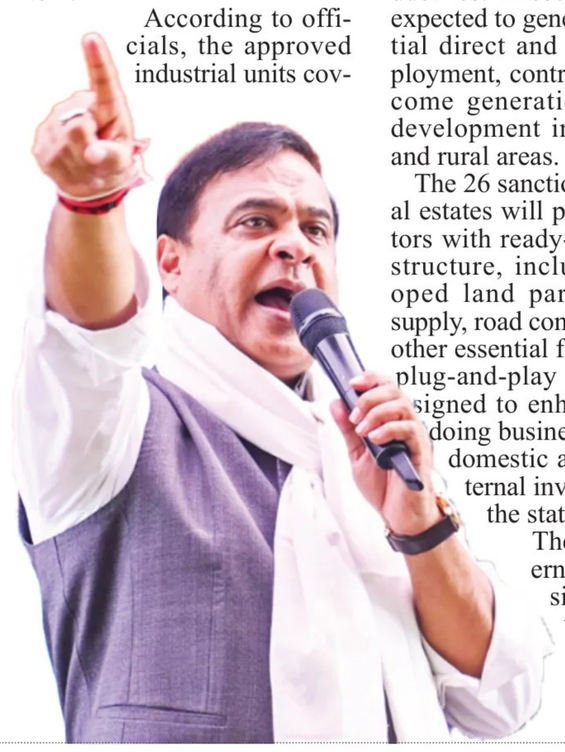
CM highlights approvals worth ₹5,067 cr to accelerate development and employment

GUWAHATI

Himanta Biswa Sarma on Thursday said that Assam's industrial expansion under the Unnati initiative is gaining significant traction, with major investments flowing into manufacturing and infrastructure sectors.

Sharing updates on social media platform X, the Chief Minister stated that 35 industrial units worth ₹5,067 crore have been approved across the state, alongside the sanctioning of 26 industrial estates.

Describing the initiative as a key driver of Assam's economic transformation, Sarma noted that the Unnati scheme aims to boost investment, accelerate development, and create employment opportunities, particularly for the youth. Driving Assam's Unnati. The scheme is giving strong momentum to Assam's growth story, he posted, reaffirming the government's commitment to building a strong and sustainable industrial ecosystem.



According to officials, the approved industrial units cover diverse sectors such as manufacturing, agro-processing, logistics, and allied industries. These projects are expected to generate substantial direct and indirect employment, contributing to income generation and skill development in both urban and rural areas.

The 26 sanctioned industrial estates will provide investors with ready-to-use infrastructure, including developed land parcels, power supply, road connectivity, and other essential facilities. This plug-and-play model is designed to enhance ease of doing business and attract domestic as well as external investments into the state.

The Assam government has positioned industrialisation as a central pillar of its broader development strategy. The push under the Unnati initiative complements ongoing investments in roads, bridges, power infrastructure, skill development programmes, and enhanced connectivity. By integrating industrial growth with infrastructure expansion, the state aims to create a self-sustaining development cycle.

Officials further said that the creation of industrial estates across multiple districts will help decentralise economic growth, promoting industrial activity beyond major urban centres.

This balanced regional development approach is expected to reduce migration pressures, generate local employment, and strengthen Assam's long-term economic resilience. With steady approvals and infrastructure support, the Unnati initiative is emerging as a cornerstone of Assam's industrial growth narrative.

NAXALISM NEARS ITS END

NEW DELHI

As the Naxalite movement that daunted India for decades comes to an end, the Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has already begun chalking out the roadmap to ensure that the menace does not resurface.

Officials say that the ideology is officially dead today, but they are on guard to ensure that a new form of criminality does not emerge in certain zones where the Naxalite menace was at its highest.

The MHA recognises that once the problem ends, the wise thing to do is to ensure there is no relapse. The designation of 31 Legacy Thrust Districts from Gadchiroli, Balaghat and Badradri Kothagundem is a step taken to ensure there is no resurgence of the movement.

These areas will continue to receive security and development support.

The intention is not just to walk away and leave it to the state. There are certain areas where Naxalism once thrived, and these need to get Central support as the state alone cannot handle it immediately, the official added.Another official said the battle against the Naxal movement has been on for a long time. However, under the Modi government, there has been a new momentum. Union Home Minister Amit Shah, who led from the front, not just gave the security forces a free hand, but also ensured that Centre-state coordination took place seamlessly, the official also explained.

Home Minister Shah also said that the Naxalites should either surrender or be prepared to be eliminated. The deadline set by him for the Naxalite movement to end is March 31, 2026. In 2000, the number of Left-Wing Extremism (LWE) districts was 200. By 2025, the number shrunk to 38. As per data available with the MHA, the number today stands at seven -- five in Chhattisgarh and one each in Jharkhand and Odisha. Of these, only three are marked as Most Affected.

2 Maoists killed in DRG encounter in Bijapur

In a major success for security forces in Chhattisgarh's Bastar region, two high-value Maoist cadres carrying a combined reward of Rs ten lakh were killed in an encounter in the Indravati River area of Bijapur district on Thursday. Preliminary identification confirmed them as Hichami Madda and Manki Podium, both Area Committee Members of the Bhairamgarh unit, each with an announced reward of Rs five lakh. Their elimination marks a significant disruption to the local Maoist leadership structure in this sensitive zone along the Indravati River. From the site, forces seized one SLR rifle with three magazines and 55 rounds, one INSAS rifle with three magazines and 19 rounds, one 12-bore gun with two shells, two hand grenades, two indigenous hand grenades, detonators, scanner batteries, mechanisms, medicines, pouches, and various other Naxalite materials. The recovered arsenal underscores the group's continued reliance on a mix of looted service rifles, country-made weapons.

BREAKING RECORDS

PM Modi hits historic milestone of 100 m Insta followers

NEW DELHI

Narendra Modi has crossed 100 million followers on Instagram, becoming the first serving world leader and politician to achieve the milestone on the social media platform.

Leaders from the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) described the feat as a reflection of his sustained outreach, consistent engagement, and increasing popularity among young audiences in India and abroad.

Having joined Instagram in 2014, the Prime Minister has steadily built one of the most followed digital profiles among global leaders. Over the past decade, his account has featured a mix of official engagements, behind-the-scenes moments, cultural events, and interactions with citizens, contributing to its wide appeal. Observers note that his digital strategy has played a significant role in directly connecting with diverse sections of society.

Reacting to the development, BJP Member of Parliament Praveen Khandelwal said the milestone highlights the Prime Minister's growing global standing and recognition. He stated that Modi has carved out a distinct place for himself not only within India but internationally, attributing the popularity to his work and determination.

Khandelwal further said that the Prime Minister's vision of positioning India as a 'Vishwaguru' and strengthening its global economic presence continues to resonate with people. According to him, Modi's commitment, dedication, and leadership have strengthened public trust, which is reflected in his expanding digital following.

SC BAI slams NCERT over selective judicial graft chapter

MUMBAI

Advocate and President of the Supreme Court Bar Association of India, Vikas Singh, on Thursday criticised the National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) for including a chapter on judicial corruption in its textbook, calling the move 'unfortunate.' He said that if the intention was to educate students about corruption, other institutions could also have been discussed. Vikas Singh said, It is unfortunate. If we want to focus on character building among children, then the emphasis should be on creating national character. Corruption has spread widely in our society, and we need to think about it seriously. Creating a selective chapter about the judiciary in this manner clearly shows an attempt to weaken the institution. The intent appears to be to put the judiciary on the defensive.

Stagnant politics era ends, Maha leads industrial surge: Shinde

'The state continues to maintain its position as the country's top destination for industrial investment'

MUMBAI

Eknath Shinde on Thursday asserted that the era of stagnant politics in Maharashtra has come to an end, marking the beginning of a transformative phase driven by rapid development and industrial growth.

Replying to the debate on the Governor's address in the Legislative Council, he emphasized that the state continues to maintain its position as the country's top destination for industrial investment.

Beginning his address on a somber note, Shinde paid tribute to late leader Ajit Pawar, stating that a shadow of grief looms over the ongoing session due to his passing.

He recalled that Pawar consistently prioritized development-oriented politics and worked tirelessly for the progress of Maharashtra. Shinde noted that continuing on the path of development would be the true tribute to the departed leader.

Highlighting Maharashtra's economic strength, the Deputy Chief Minister said the state contributes 13.5 per cent to India's total GDP, underlining its central role in the national economy. He revealed that in the financial year 2024–25, Maharashtra attracted Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) worth Rs 1,64,875 crore, accounting for 39 per cent of the total FDI received by the country. In the first six months of the current fiscal year alone, the state secured Rs 91,337 crore in investments, retaining its number one ranking nationwide.

Shinde further stated that following the Davos summit, Memorandums of Understanding (MoUs) worth Rs 30 lakh crore were signed with companies from 18 countries. Significantly, 82 per cent of these agreements are already in the implementation stage.

He noted that these investments are concentrated in futuristic and high-growth sectors such as Quantum Computing, Artificial Intelligence, Semiconductors, and Green Energy, positioning Maharashtra at the forefront of the next industrial revolution.

Detailing several game-changer initiatives, Shinde announced the establishment of a World Competency Center in Mumbai, which will be the largest in Asia and is expected to generate approximately 45,000 jobs.

He reiterated that the government's primary objective is to build a progressive, prosperous, and secure Maharashtra, ensuring inclusive growth and sustainable development for all sections of society.

Maha remains real economic powerhouse: Fadnavis

MUMBAI

Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis in the state Assembly on Thursday painted a picture of Maharashtra that is no longer just participating in India's growth, but is actively steering the nation's $5 trillion ambition.

He laid out a comprehensive vision for the state's future, balancing ambitious economic targets with a stern address on law and order.

In his reply to the debate on the Governor's address, the chief minister said that Maharashtra remains the real economic powerhouse of India.

He cited that the state now contributes nearly 14 per cent of the National GDP and attracts a staggering 40 per cent of India's total Foreign Direct Investment (FDI).

We are moving from incremental reforms to a total structural transformation, he stated. CM Fadnavis noted that the state has secured Rs 30 lakh crore in Memoranda of Understanding (MoUs) during the 2026 Davos summit.

Our goal is not just growth, but sustainable leadership. With the establishment of the Vision Management Unit, we are on a definitive path towards Viksit Maharashtra 2047, he said.

The chief minister said that Gadchiroli is being transformed from conflict zone to steel hub. Once known primarily for Naxalite activity and being a punishment posting for officials, he described its rebirth as India's future Green Steel Hub.

He informed the house that over Rs 3 lakh crore is being pumped into the district to create a pollution-free steel ecosystem.

He added that 95 per cent of jobs in these news plants would go to local tribal youths.

Balancing industry with nature, the CM announced a massive drive to plant 5 crore trees to ensure that the water, forest, and land of the region remain intact.

AP court issues arrest warrant for Bihar cadre IPS officer

AMARAVATI

A court in Andhra Pradesh on Thursday issued an arrest warrant against Bihar cadre IPS officer, M. Sunil Kumar Naik, in the alleged custodial torture of former Member of Parliament K. Raghu Ramakrishna Raju, who is now Deputy Speaker of the state Assembly. The Guntur mobile court issued the arrest warrant on a petition filed by the police. Guntur police had last year issued notice to the IPS officer, directing him to appear for questioning in connection with the case booked against him and others. As the officer failed to respond to the notice, a police team recently went to Patna to arrest him. Sunil Kumar Naik, who is the Director of Fire Services of Bihar, was taken into custody at his residence in Patna on Monday. It was alleged that the police entered Naik's house by scaling the wall and took him into custody without producing the arrest warrant, though he insisted they provide it. He was produced in a local court seeking permission to shift him to Andhra Pradesh, but the court rejected the plea for his transit remand on the ground that the Andhra Pradesh Police did not follow the due inter-state arrest procedure.

Yadav stresses Rajasthan-MP regional co-op in growth sectors

BHILWARA

Bhilwara witnessed a significant event, an Interactive Session on Investment Opportunities in Madhya Pradesh, on Thursday as the Chief Minister of central Indian state extended a warm invitation to Rajasthan's industrialists to expand their ventures into his state and stressed regional cooperation in growth sectors.

Addressing a gathering of prominent business leaders, Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Mohan Yadav emphasised the historic and cultural ties between Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh, describing the two states as brothers bound together since ancient times. The event brought together leading figures from the textile, commerce and industrial sectors, along with members of the Mewar Chamber of Commerce. In his speech, the Chief Minister praised Rajasthan's entrepreneurial spirit, noting that the people of Marwar and Mewar have the ability to create opportunities even in the most challenging conditions. He highlighted the role of industry in sustaining livelihoods, acknowledging that businesses not only generate wealth but also ensure that many households keep their stoves burning. The Chief Minister underscored the importance of cooperation between states, recalling past disputes over water-sharing and stressing that such conflicts should give way to harmony and constructive engagement. Water is a gift of the divine, he remarked, adding that Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh must work together to ensure mutual progress and shared prosperity.

He credited Prime Minister Narendra Modi's leadership for fostering a climate of national unity and economic growth, urging industrialists to seize the opportunities created by favourable policies and the Centre's emphasis on economic expansion.

Policy simplification and transparency were central themes of his address. He assured investors that Madhya Pradesh has streamlined regulations to minimise bureaucratic hurdles, making it easier to conduct business and facilitating smoother project implementation.

MoS Defence flags off Taram Chu steel bridge in Sikkim

NEW DELHI

Sanjay Seth on Thursday inaugurated the restored Chungthang-Lachen axis and a 400-foot Bailey Suspension Taram Chu Bridge in North Sikkim, marking a significant milestone in post-disaster recovery efforts in the Himalayan region.

The strategic infrastructure was rebuilt by the Border Roads Organisation (BRO) following multiple natural calamities that severely disrupted connectivity.

According to a Defence Ministry statement, the restoration comes after devastating cloudbursts in May–June 2025, Cyclone Remal in June 2024, and the Glacial Lake Outburst Flood in October 2023, all of which caused extensive damage to roads and bridges in the region. Seth commended the BRO for its consistent and dedicated efforts under challenging terrain and weather conditions, noting that the restored infrastructure would significantly enhance the well-being of local residents and strengthen regional connectivity. Under Project Swastik, the BRO cleared 96 landslides to reopen vital routes. The organisation also constructed four major bridges and repaired two others to restore the Lines of Communication in North Sikkim. The engineering team completed eight kilometres of fresh formation cutting and created several diversions to navigate unstable slopes and sinking zones, ensuring safe and durable connectivity. The ministry highlighted that these efforts follow the successful opening of the 7.5-kilometre Naga-Toong stretch in October 2025, further strengthening road connectivity in the strategically sensitive region. The completion of the 28-kilometre Chungthang-Lachen road along with the Taram Chu Bridge is expected to serve the needs of residents, security agencies, and boost regional economic activities, including tourism and trade.

The inauguration aligns with the 'Atmanirbhar Sikkim–Viksit Bharat Vision' articulated by the Chief Minister of Sikkim, focusing on self-reliant and sustainable development in border areas. The ceremony was attended by several dignitaries, including Samdup Leptcha, Lieutenant General Man Raj Singh Mann, General Officer Commanding, Trishakti Corps, and Jitendra Prasad.

Meghalaya records robust growth

SHILLONG

Meghalaya has emerged as one of the fastest-growing states in the country, recording nearly 10 per cent real Gross State Domestic Product (GSDP) growth for three consecutive years after the Covid-19 pandemic, Chief Minister Conrad K. Sangma said on Thursday while replying to the Budget discussion in the Assembly.

Citing key fiscal indicators, Sangma noted that the state's economic size expanded by 76.5 per cent between FY21 and FY25. He stated that Meghalaya is now the second fastest-growing state in terms of real GSDP growth, after Tamil Nadu, reflecting sustained economic momentum. Importantly, he underlined that this growth has not been driven by excessive borrowing but by fiscal prudence and disciplined financial management.

According to the Chief Minister, borrowings accounted for only 7.8 per cent of total receipts in FY24, significantly lower than the national average of 19.4 per cent. This, he said, demonstrates the government's commitment to maintaining a healthy fiscal balance while pursuing development goals.

Highlighting the government's capital-led growth strategy, Sangma said capital expenditure has grown at a compounded annual growth rate (CAGR) of 16.5 per cent since FY14.

This outpaced revenue expenditure growth of 11.1 per cent during the same period, signalling a stronger focus on asset creation, infrastructure development, and long-term economic sustainability.

FBI subpoenaed phone calls of Patel, Wiles during Trump probe

Washington

The Federal Bureau of Investigation subpoenaed phone call records of Kash Patel and Susie Wiles when they were private citizens in 2022 and 2023, according to Patel. The action reportedly took place during the administration of President Joe Biden as part of a broader federal investigation into former President Donald Trump. Patel, who now serves as Director of the FBI, told Reuters that the records were obtained while federal authorities were probing Trump's alleged efforts to interfere with the 2020 presidential election and his handling of classified documents.

UK work visas .plunge by 19% amid immigration reforms

London

The number of work visas issued by United Kingdom in the year ending December 2025 fell by 19% compared to the previous year, according to official government figures released on Thursday. The data highlights the continuing impact of stricter immigration policies introduced over recent years in an effort to curb legal migration. A total of 168,000 work visas were granted in 2025, marking a significant decline from 2024 levels and representing a 50% drop compared to 2023. The downward trend reflects successive policy changes aimed at tightening eligibility criteria, raising salary thresholds, and reducing the number of sectors able to recruit from overseas.

Hong Kong court overturns Jimmy Lai fraud conviction

Hong Kong

A Hong Kong court on Thursday overturned the fraud conviction and prison sentence of pro-democracy media tycoon Jimmy Lai, in a surprise legal development that follows his recent 20-year jail term on a separate national security charge. The ruling was delivered by judges Jeremy Poon, Anthea Pang, and Derek Pang, who found that a lower court judge had "erred" in the original decision. In their ruling, the judges said they allowed the appeal brought by Lai and another defendant in the case, effectively quashing the earlier fraud conviction and sentence.

US-UKRAINE MOOT POST-WAR REFORMS

The agenda includes talks on rebuilding Ukraine's economy & restoring critical infra damaged in the prolonged conflict.

KYIV

wUkrainian negotiators were scheduled to meet senior United States officials in Geneva on Thursday for discussions focused on post-war reconstruction and economic recovery, even as peace talks with Russia remain stalled.

The agenda includes deliberations on a proposed "prosperity package" aimed at rebuilding Ukraine's economy and restoring critical infrastructure damaged during the prolonged conflict.

A Ukrainian official confirmed that the discussions were expected to begin around lunchtime, and that the delegation would not address the media following the meeting, indicating the sensitive nature of the negotiations.

The US side is represented by Special Envoy Steve Witkoff and Jared Kushner, a senior adviser with extensive experience in diplomatic backchannel talks.

The meeting highlights Washington's intent to shift part of its engagement with Kyiv toward long-term stabilization and economic revival, alongside ongoing security and military assistance. Ukrainian officials view the prosperity package as essential for reviving industry, supporting displaced populations, and attracting international investment once active hostilities subside.

On the same day in Geneva, Witkoff and Kushner are due to take part in a third round of indirect negotiations concerning Iran's nuclear program with Iranian Foreign Minister Abbas Araqchi.

These talks are being mediated by Oman, reflecting Muscat's continued role as a discreet diplomatic channel between Washington and Tehran. The parallel discussions underline the breadth of US diplomatic engagement in Geneva, where multiple geopolitical flashpoints are being addressed simultaneously.

Meanwhile, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskiy held a conversation on Wednesday with US President Donald Trump, during which both leaders agreed that the next round of trilateral talks involving Russia in March should pave the way for a leaders' summit. The proposed meeting would aim to resolve the most sensitive outstanding issues, including security guarantees, territorial disputes, and post-war arrangements.

Despite the current deadlock in peace negotiations with Russia, Ukrainian officials say engagement with international partners on reconstruction is vital to ensure readiness for recovery when conditions permit. Observers note that these Geneva discussions signal a cautious shift toward planning for Ukraine's long-term future, even as the conflict continues to shape the diplomatic landscape.

'INF-banned missile firing raises alarm'

Debris from Ukraine suggests Russia deployed a controversial missile once banned by treaty.

KYIV

Images of missile debris recovered from recent Russian strikes on Ukrainian territory have sparked renewed international concern over Moscow's alleged use of a cruise missile once prohibited under the now-defunct Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces (INF) Treaty.

Two independent weapons specialists who examined high-resolution images of the fragments said the characteristics strongly indicate the use of a nuclear-capable cruise missile whose development was a central factor behind former U.S. President Donald Trump pulling the United States out of the INF Treaty during his first term.

According to experts, the fragments provided by Ukrainian law enforcement sources show design features and materials consistent with advanced long-range cruise missile technology. The images, shared with Reuters, represent the first publicly available visual evidence corroborating earlier reporting that Russia has fielded and used this particular class of missile in active combat. Analysts noted that the missile's size, engine components, and guidance-related fragments align with systems long suspected to be part of Russia's post-INF arsenal.

The INF Treaty, signed in 1987 by the United States and the Soviet Union, banned ground-launched ballistic and cruise missiles with ranges between 500 and 5,500 kilometers. Washington withdrew from the pact in 2019 after accusing Moscow of violating the agreement through the development and deployment of prohibited missiles. Russia denied the allegations at the time, countering that U.S. actions also undermined the treaty. The collapse of the INF Treaty removed a key pillar of Cold War-era arms control, opening the door to the renewed deployment of intermediate-range weapons in Europe. If confirmed, the operational use of such a missile in Ukraine could signal a dangerous escalation, not only because of the weapon's range and precision, but also due to its nuclear-capable design. While there is no indication that a nuclear warhead was used, experts warn that employing systems designed for nuclear delivery blurs critical deterrence lines and heightens strategic risks.

Ukrainian officials have called for deeper international scrutiny and stronger sanctions, arguing that the use of previously banned weapons underscores the urgency of reinforcing global arms control frameworks. Western governments are expected to review the evidence as part of broader assessments of Russia's evolving missile capabilities, amid growing concerns that the erosion of treaties like INF is accelerating a new arms race in Europe.

PTI Leaders Urge Supreme Court to Ensure Khan's Care Islamabad

ISLAMABAD

Incarcerated Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) leaders have appealed to the Chief Justice of Pakistan over restrictions on former Prime Minister Imran Khan's legal and medical access. In a letter to Chief Justice Yahya Afridi, the leaders expressed concern that Khan has been denied meetings with his personal doctor, family members, and legal counsel. The letter, submitted through PTI lawyers, was signed by Shah Mehmood Qureshi, Yasmin Rashid, Ijaz Chaudhry, Omar Sarfraz Cheema, and Mahmood-ur-Rashid. It follows Khan's second injection at the Pakistan Institute of Medical Sciences (PIMS) in Islamabad on Tuesday, about which his family was only informed post-procedure at 2 a.m The PTI leaders drew parallels to former Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif's treatment in 2019, noting that Sharif received timely medical care, consultations with his personal physician, and was allowed family and legal access, including travel abroad for treatment.

Iran signals flexibility in Geneva talks as US pressure mounts

TEHRAN

Iran pledged to show flexibility during indirect negotiations with the United States on Thursday as both sides reconvened in Geneva for a third round of talks aimed at addressing their long-running nuclear dispute.

The discussions come at a moment of heightened pressure on Tehran, with US officials warning that failure to reach a diplomatic understanding could lead to serious consequences, including the threat of military action.

The talks began on Thursday morning in Geneva, against the backdrop of a major US military buildup across the Middle East ordered by President Donald Trump.

The show of force is widely seen as an attempt to strengthen Washington's negotiating position and signal resolve to Tehran. Iranian officials, meanwhile, have sought to project openness to compromise on the nuclear file, even as they reject what they describe as coercive diplomacy.

US Secretary of State Marco Rubio sharpened Washington's stance on Wednesday, saying Iran's refusal to include its ballistic missile programme in the discussions was a "major problem" that would need to be addressed in due course.

Speaking to reporters in Saint Kitts and Nevis, Rubio argued that Iran's missile capabilities were designed to threaten the United States and destabilise the region, and that any sustainable agreement would ultimately have to account for both nuclear and missile-related concerns.

Iranian negotiators have long maintained that their ballistic missile programme is purely defensive and non-negotiable, insisting that the current talks should remain narrowly focused on nuclear restrictions and sanctions relief.

Tehran also argues that linking missiles to the nuclear file risks derailing already fragile diplomacy. However, Western officials counter that the two issues are deeply intertwined, given the potential delivery systems involved and the broader regional security implications.

Observers say the Geneva talks represent one of the most consequential diplomatic openings in months. While expectations of a swift breakthrough remain low, even incremental progress could help de-escalate tensions and reduce the risk of confrontation. Failure, on the other hand, could harden positions on both sides.

UK's Starmer faces latest test in tight-run local vote

LONDON

UK Prime Minister Keir Starmer faces a significant political test on Thursday as voters in Manchester head to the polls to elect a new lawmaker in the closely watched Gorton and Denton by-election.

Opinion polls suggest the race is too close to call, with the governing Labour Party locked in a tight contest with Reform UK and the left-leaning Green Party of England and Wales.

The vote in Gorton and Denton, part of the Greater Manchester region in northwestern England, comes at a delicate moment for Starmer's leadership.

His judgment has recently been questioned following a series of policy U-turns that critics say have muddied Labour's messaging. The controversy surrounding the appointment of Labour veteran Peter Mandelson as ambassador to Washington has further fuelled debate within and beyond the party about strategic direction and political optics.

In a surprise appearance earlier this week, Starmer campaigned in the constituency to sharpen Labour's pitch, urging voters to see the contest as a straight choice between Labour and Reform. Reform UK, led by Brexit figurehead Nigel Farage, has sought to capitalise on voter frustration over the cost of living, migration, and dissatisfaction with mainstream politics. Labour strategists fear that Reform's populist messaging could siphon off protest votes that might otherwise default to the governing party in a traditional Labour-leaning area.

At the same time, Labour has warned that a strong showing by the Greens could inadvertently help Reform. Party officials have argued that votes drawn away by the Greens' left-leaning platform—focused on living costs and support for Gaza—risk splitting the progressive vote and allowing Reform to gain ground.

The Greens reject this framing, insisting they offer a principled alternative for voters disillusioned with both Labour's compromises and Reform's rhetoric.

Beijing tests deception tactics with mystery drone flights

BEIJING

A large Chinese long-endurance military drone has carried out regular flights over the South China Sea in recent months while transmitting false transponder signals that made it appear to be other aircraft, including a sanctioned Belarusian cargo plane and a British fighter jet.

Military attaches and security analysts monitoring the activity say the flights mark a significant escalation in China's so-called "grey-zone" tactics—coercive actions that fall short of open warfare but aim to test rivals' responses and surveillance capabilities.

As per open-source flight data reviewed by Reuters, at least 23 such flights have been logged since August under the call sign YILO4200, which analysts identify as a known long-endurance Chinese military drone. However, the aircraft transmitted registration details linked to unrelated planes, including a Belarusian cargo aircraft and a British Typhoon fighter, masking its true identity while operating in contested airspace.

UNICEF alarmed over Myanmar air strikes on civilians

UNITED NATIONS

The United Nations children's agency, UNICEF, has expressed grave concern over reports of deadly air strikes carried out by Myanmar's military this week, as fighting continues to intensify across the country.

According to local media outlets and a rebel group, the attacks resulted in significant civilian casualties, including children. Reports from Myanmar-based news organisations, Myanmar Now and The Irrawaddy, stated that paramotors dropped bombs on a village in the central Sagaing region on Monday. A day later, a fighter jet allegedly launched an air strike in Rakhine state, located about 320 kilometres west of Sagaing. Combined, the incidents reportedly claimed at least two dozen lives.

The Arakan Army, an armed group engaged in conflict with Myanmar's ruling junta in Rakhine state, claimed that 17 civilians were killed when a jet bombed a crowded village market.

Among the deceased were children, the group said, while at least 14 others sustained injuries in the attack. The reported strike on a busy marketplace has intensified fears about the safety of non-combatants trapped in conflict zones.

Reuters stated it was unable to independently verify the claims regarding the air strikes and casualty figures. Efforts to obtain an official response from Myanmar's military government were unsuccessful, as a spokesperson did not respond to calls seeking comment.

In a strongly worded statement, UNICEF said it was "deeply alarmed" by the reported incidents and urged all parties involved in Myanmar's ongoing civil war to adhere to international humanitarian law.

MESSI Admits English Regret, Urges Children to Value Education

MIAMI

Lionel Messi has revealed a personal regret away from the football pitch, admitting that not learning English during his childhood makes him feel "half-ignorant" in certain situations.

The Argentine superstar said he often reflects on missed educational opportunities from his youth. "I regret many things. Not having learned English as a boy. I had the time to have at least studied English, and I did not do it. I deeply regret it," Messi said.

The eight-time Ballon d'Or winner explained that language barriers sometimes left him uncomfortable in conversations with global personalities. "I experienced situations where I was with incredible and spectacular personalities to be able to talk and have a chat, and you feel half ignorant. I always thought: 'What an idiot, how I wasted my time,'" he added candidly.

Argentine legend reflects on missed lessons beyond football field

Now playing for Inter Miami CF and preparing for the 2026 FIFA World Cup, Messi said his experiences have shaped the advice he gives his children. He encourages them to fully embrace the educational opportunities available to them — chances he feels he did not fully utilise.

Reflecting on his school days, Messi described his final year in Argentina as "a disaster," as he already knew he would be moving to FC Barcelona's famed academy, La Masia.

Though football brought him extraordinary success — including leading Argentina to World Cup glory in 2022 — he acknowledged that the journey also carried lessons beyond trophies.

World Cup 2026 Security Fears Cloud Mexico's Hosting Role

BENGALURU

With just over 100 days remaining for the FIFA World Cup 2026, concerns over security in Mexico have cast a shadow over the tournament's build-up. Mexico, one of the three co-hosts alongside the United States and Canada, is slated to stage 13 matches. Guadalajara — the epicentre of recent violence — will host four fixtures, including a marquee first-round clash between Uruguay and Spain.

The unrest erupted following the killing of drug lord Nemesio Oseguera Cervantes near Guadalajara, triggering retaliatory attacks and clashes that reportedly left over 70 people dead. The violence has sparked anxiety among fans and participating nations about safety arrangements ahead of the global showpiece scheduled from June 11 to July 19.

Security fears intensify as Mexico prepares to host World Cup.

Gianni Infantino sought to calm fears, stating he was "very reassured" about Mexico's preparedness. However, his optimism has not been universally shared. The Portuguese Football Federation confirmed it is "closely monitoring" the situation before deciding on a proposed friendly in Mexico.

Infantino's remarks have drawn criticism for appearing dismissive of the gravity of the unrest. Comparisons have resurfaced with the scrutiny faced by 2022 FIFA World Cup in Qatar, which endured years of intense criticism before ultimately delivering a successful tournament.

While Mexico City and Monterrey remain unaffected by the recent clashes, the violence in Guadalajara underscores the broader security challenge. With billions in economic impact at stake and millions of fans expected to travel, FIFA faces mounting pressure to move beyond reassurances and demonstrate concrete measures to ensure player and spectator safety.

Vaishnavi Adkar's Quiet Confidence Powers W100 Breakthrough

BENGALURU

Vaishnavi Adkar showcased remarkable resilience at the KPB Trust ITF Women's Open W100 in Bengaluru, propelling her ranking from 690 to 466 in the latest WTA list. The 21-year-old Pune native reached her maiden W100 final, defeating three higher-ranked opponents, including two in the top-150, over a grueling five-day campaign.

Adkar's coach, Balachandran Manikkath of the Rohan Bopanna Tennis Academy, credited her breakthrough to belief, temperament, and willingness to embrace new ideas. "For Vaishnavi, the belief that she can beat these players will be a game-changer going forward," he said. He highlighted that the ranking jump opens doors to higher-level tournaments, offering exposure to the physical and mental rigors of competing against top-200 players.

After an injury-hit 2025 and a slow start to the 2026 season, Adkar shifted to RBTA two months ago, showing early signs of improvement, particularly in her serve. Yet it is her quiet confidence and introspective approach that set her apart. "She is smart, intelligent and has this quiet confidence. As a player, she is very open to new ideas and willing to try them out," Manikkath added.

Despite losing the final 0-6, 1-6 to Belgium's Hanne Vandewinkel, Adkar displayed maturity in handling both the attention and disappointment. "It was tough to process all of it. But this is just the beginning of an unexplored path. The attention will always be there. I just have to learn to deal with it," she reflected.

Global investors intensify race for stakes in IPL teams

Blitzer Enters Bidding War for RCB, Other IPL Franchises

LONDON, MUMBAI

Billionaire investor David Blitzer has entered the high-stakes race to acquire a majority stake in an Indian Premier League franchise, holding talks with Royal Challengers Bengaluru and Rajasthan Royals, according to sources familiar with the matter.

Blitzer, co-founder of Harris Blitzer Sports & Entertainment and a senior executive at Blackstone Inc., is conducting due diligence on both teams.

Discussions reportedly value RCB, the reigning IPL champions, at around $1.8 billion. Neither franchise nor Blitzer immediately commented.

His potential entry has intensified competition, with Avram Glazer — co-chairman of Manchester United F.C. and owner of the NFL's Tampa Bay Buccaneers — also submitting initial bids.

Global investment firms including KKR & Co. and Blackstone are evaluating stakes, reflecting surging investor appetite for cricket's richest league.

The IPL's soaring valuation — estimated at $18.5 billion last year — and rapidly growing revenues have drawn both international and domestic heavyweights. UK-based Diageo is reviewing its full ownership of RCB, while Rajasthan Royals are majority owned by London-based investor Manoj Badale.

Indian tycoons are also in contention. Adar Poonawalla has publicly expressed interest in a strong bid for RCB, and businessman Ranjan Pai is reportedly exploring a stake.

With final bids due by mid-March and the new IPL season beginning March 26, any transaction will require approval from the Board of Control for Cricket in India, setting the stage for one of the most competitive franchise sales in global sport.

LUIS ENRIQUE: PSG BATTLE-HARDENED FOR CHAMPIONS LEAGUE KNOCKOUTS

PARIS

Paris Saint-Germain F.C. coach Luis Enrique believes his squad has been rigorously tested to thrive in the later stages of the UEFA Champions League after advancing past AS Monaco FC.

PSG were held 2-2 at the Parc des Princes in the second leg of their knockout playoff but progressed 5-4 on aggregate.

Enrique admitted dissatisfaction with his side's first-half performance, which saw them concede a goal, but praised their resilience in the second half.

"Did I like what I saw? No, no, I didn't like it, but that's football," he said.

"We had an incredible schedule during the group stage, then continued with these playoffs against Monaco.

That's the competition of the Champions League — you have to accept it."

PSG's path to the last 16 has tested them against top-quality opposition, including Atalanta BC, Barcelona FC, Bayer Leverkusen, Bayern Munich, Newcastle United FC, Sporting CP, and Tottenham Hotspur FC — all of whom have also reached the knockout stage.

"If there's one team that has played against good teams and had the toughest group, it's clearly us," Enrique said. "We're used to playing these kinds of matches against any team.

Of course, we can improve, but tonight we faced a very high-level opponent."

PSG now await the draw for the last 16, which will determine whether they face Barcelona FC or Chelsea FC.

Enrique remains confident: "But if there's one team ready, it's ours."

Dogra Downplays On-Field Altercation in Ranji Final

HUBBALLI

The Ranji Trophy final between Karnataka cricket team and Jammu and Kashmir cricket team witnessed dramatic scenes at the KSCA Rajnagar Stadium after a heated altercation briefly halted play.

J&K skipper Paras Dogra was involved in a verbal exchange with Karnataka's KV Aneesh that escalated when Dogra appeared to intentionally headbutt the substitute fielder stationed at silly point. The incident, which unfolded in the 101st over of Karnataka's innings, delayed proceedings on a day already shortened by bad light, with only 69 overs bowled.

Tempers flare briefly during tense Karnataka versus J&K summit clash

Despite the unsavoury episode, Dogra sought to downplay the confrontation, terming it a spur-of-the-moment reaction. "These things keep going on. When you are playing a final, these things happen. It happened in the heat of the moment. It is all okay now," he said at the close of play, insisting there were no lingering issues between the sides.

Former Karnataka captain Mayank Agarwal stepped in to support Aneesh, while current skipper Devdutt Padikkal was seen in discussion with on-field umpires Rohan Pandit and Ulhas Gandhe as tensions simmered.

Given the physical contact involved, Dogra could face scrutiny from match referee Narayan Kutty, who will assess the seriousness of the breach under the Code of Conduct. An official decision is expected after the conclusion of the final.

In a separate minor flare-up, J&K wicketkeeper Kanhaiya Wadhawan and Karnataka pacer Vyshak Vijaykumar were seen shoulder-barging during a verbal duel, underlining the high stakes and intensity of the summit clash.

Gukesh Holds Niemann to Draw in Prague International Chess

PRAGUE

D. Gukesh survived a tense middle game to secure a hard-fought draw against Hans Moke Niemann in the first round of the masters section at the Prague International Chess Festival 2026. The Berlin Defense, which saw Niemann sacrifice a piece early on move 13, tested Gukesh's composure despite having the white pieces. The draw was the only non-victory in a 10-player, nine-round tournament that saw all other games with white pieces ending in wins. Gukesh managed to hold Niemann's advancing pawns and maintained equilibrium, showcasing the resilience expected from a world champion. Other notable results included defending champion Aravindh Chithambaram falling to Nodirbek Abdusattorov after a Philidor Defense ended unfavorably in a rook-and-minor-piece endgame. Meanwhile, top-seeded Vincent Keymer was defeated by a resurgent Jorden van Foreest, who introduced a novel idea in the Berlin Defense, securing multiple pawns and a comprehensive victory. Other winners included Nodirbek Yakubboevarro, and local favorite David Navaraers section, women's World Cup champion Divya Deshmukh drew from a strong position against top-seeded Benjamin Gledura Surya Shekhar Ganguly lost to Thomas Beerdsen of the Netherlands. Gukesh's steady handling of Niemann sets the tone for a competitive festival, with multiple upsets underlining the depth and unpredictability of elite chess in Prague this year.

RAVINDRA HAILS SANTNER'S LEADERSHIP AFTER SEMIFINAL SURGE

COLOMBO

Rachin Ravindra heaped rich praise on skipper Mitchell Santner after New Zealand stormed into the semi-finals of the ICC Men's T20 World Cup 2026 with a commanding 61-run victory over Sri Lanka national cricket team.

While Ravindra contributed 32 runs and claimed an impressive 4 for 19 to earn the Player of the Match award, he reserved special admiration for his captain's all-round brilliance. Santner's counterattacking 47 off just 26 balls lifted New Zealand from a precarious 84 for 6 to a competitive 168 for 7.

He then delivered a miserly spell of 1 for 19 in four overs as Sri Lanka were restricted to 107 for 8.

"Obviously we all know how chill he is, but also how his mind works — what ball to bowl from which end — is fantastic," Ravindra said at the post-match press conference. "More than anything, he leads through his performances and work ethic." Ravindra described Santner as a leader who instills belief and confidence in his teammates. "He backs you and pumps your tyres a lot. It makes you feel ten feet tall and bulletproof every time you step onto the field. He's just a great presence around the group," he added.

Beyond motivation, Santner's experience on subcontinental pitches has proved invaluable, particularly for the spin unit. Ravindra highlighted how having "one of the best white-ball spinners in the world" guiding the bowlers adds an extra layer of assurance. With momentum on their side and a captain leading from the front, New Zealand now head into the semifinals brimming with confidence and belief.

India sees 6.8%-7.2% GDP growth for 2026-27

NEW DELHI

India's economy is projected to expand between 6.8 per cent and 7.2 per cent in FY27 as bilateral trade agreements with major economies are expected, along with the government's economic reforms, to counter the global uncertainties created by the US tariff turmoil, according to the latest EY Economy Watch report. In the background of India's extensive bilateral trade agreements with other major economies or economic groups, India's medium-term prospects have brightened up, EY India chief policy advisor D.K. Srivastava said. The analysis noted that achieving the government's long-term Viksit Bharat 2047 vision would require a sustained rise in the tax-to-GDP ratio.

India's GCC hiring grows 4–6% in Q3 despite AI skill gaps

HYDERABAD

Hiring across India's Global Capability Centres (GCCs) grew 4–6 per cent quarter-on-quarter in Q3 FY2026, even as companies face acute skill shortages in high-demand areas such as AI and platform engineering, a new report said on Thursday. In its 'Quess GCC Talent Trends Q3 FY2026' report, Quess Corp highlighted that India currently has around 1,850–1,900 active GCCs with an expected workforce of nearly 2.5 million professionals. The report noted that while hiring remains steady, GCCs are now shifting their focus from large-scale recruitment to building deeper and more specialised capabilities. According to the findings, skill shortages have widened significantly in critical technology areas.

UIDAI partners Google to list Aadhaar centres on maps

Citizens can soon locate authorised Aadhaar centres easily through Google Maps integration nationwide

NEW DELHI

In a significant step aimed at improving public access to essential identity services, the Unique Identification Authority of India (UIDAI) has partnered with US technology major Google to enable the display of authorised Aadhaar centres on Google Maps. The government announced the collaboration on Thursday, highlighting that the feature will be rolled out in the coming months.

The integration will allow citizens to easily identify verified Aadhaar centres while searching on Google Maps. Users will be able to distinguish centres based on the specific services they provide, including adult enrolment, child enrolment, or limited services such as address and mobile number updates. This classification is expected to reduce confusion and help residents choose the appropriate centre based on their requirements.

According to an official statement issued by the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology, additional details about centre accessibility will also be made available wherever applicable. These include information about divyang-friendly infrastructure, availability of parking facilities, and operating hours. By providing such comprehensive information, the initiative seeks to enhance transparency and improve the overall experience for Aadhaar number holders.

The collaboration is designed not only to enhance public convenience but also to combat misinformation related to unauthorised or fake Aadhaar service centres. With over 60,000 Aadhaar centres operating across the country, including state-of-the-art Aadhaar Seva Kendras (ASKs), the integration will ensure that users are directed exclusively to verified and authorised facilities when conducting searches online.

Officials believe this move will significantly simplify the process of locating Aadhaar services, especially in urban areas where multiple centres operate in close proximity. It is also expected to benefit residents in semi-urban and rural regions by providing accurate directions and verified information.

Bhuvnesh Kumar, Chief Executive Officer of UIDAI, said the authority remains committed to enhancing the ease of living for Aadhaar holders. He stated that the collaboration with Google will make navigating authorised Aadhaar centres simpler, faster, and more transparent, thereby strengthening service delivery and citizen trust in the Aadhaar ecosystem.

Centre accelerates industrial corridor development across states

NEW DELHI

The Centre's strategy to fast-track industrial development has gained significant momentum, with four National Industrial Corridors already completed and another four nearing completion. The progress follows the announcement of a ₹28,602 crore package in 2024-25 for the development of 12 such corridors, according to an official factsheet released on Thursday.

Further impetus has been provided in the Union Budget 2026-27, which earmarked ₹3,000 crore for the development of an integrated East Coast Industrial Corridor.

The project will feature a strategically located and well-connected node at Durgapur in West Bengal, aimed at strengthening industrial growth in the eastern region.

These industrial smart cities are envisioned as globally benchmarked manufacturing and investment hubs. Designed with plug-and-play infrastructure and a walk-to-work ecosystem, the projects aim to create future-ready facilities that are developed ahead of demand. The approach is intended to ensure seamless operations for industries, attract investments, and generate employment opportunities across sectors.

Among the major projects underway is the Delhi-Mumbai Industrial Corridor (DMIC), a flagship initiative designed to boost manufacturing and logistics efficiency. Key nodes under this corridor include the Dholera Special Investment Region in Gujarat, Shendra Bidkin Industrial Area in Maharashtra, and the Integrated Industrial Township Greater Noida in Uttar Pradesh.

Southern India is also witnessing major developments, including the Krishnapatnam Industrial Area, Tumakuru Industrial Area, and Ponneri Industrial Area. In eastern India, the Raghunathpur Industrial Park is emerging as a key hub. Other states selected for corridor-based industrial development include Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Punjab, Haryana, Bihar, and Andhra Pradesh.

India's engineering goods exports cross $100 billion mark

NEW DELHI

Engineering goods exports from India grew by 4.52 per cent year-on-year to $101.13 billion during the April-January period of 2025-26, crossing the $100 billion mark for the first time in the current fiscal, EEPC India said on Thursday.

Driven primarily by copper, iron and steel, and motor vehicles, engineering goods exports recorded a 10.4 per cent (on-year) rise in January to $10.40 billion even as shipments to the US recorded a decline during this period.

Engineering goods exports to the US, India's top market, however fell 6.8 per cent year-on-year to $1.51 billion in January, as against $1.62 billion in January 2025.

Favourable base was one of the major reasons behind the double-digit growth in January this year. Notably, Indian engineering exports also bounced back in most of the regions. This is very positive news, especially at a time when global trade is going through realignments pushed by changing geopolitics, said Pankaj Chadha, Chairman EEPC India.

Indian engineering exports would continue to grow in the coming months and surpass $120 billion in FY26, he added.

The recent schemes announced by the government, especially the Market Access Scheme, are estimated to be a big enabler of Indian exports. This is crucial at a time when more Indian exporters are eager to participate in global exhibitions and exhibit their products to global markets, Chadha noted.

Meanwhile, EEPC India also urged the government to reconsider its decision to reduce RoDTEP benefits by half, considering the ongoing challenges and uncertainties prevailing on the external front.

Among the top 25 key markets for Indian engineering goods, shipments to as many as 19 countries recorded positive growth, while in the case of six countries, the growth was negative.

Big shake-up in mutual funds! SEBI scraps solution funds

MUMBAI

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) on Thursday discontinued the solution-oriented mutual fund category, which includes children's and retirement funds, and announced a major overhaul of mutual fund categorisation rules to bring more clarity and transparency for investors. The markets regulator said that the solution-oriented category stands discontinued from the date of the circular.

Existing schemes under this segment will immediately stop accepting fresh subscriptions. These schemes will now be merged with other schemes that have similar asset allocation and risk profiles, subject to prior approval from SEBI. As of January 31, 2026, there were 15 schemes in the children's fund category and 29 schemes in the retirement fund category.

SEBI had first proposed changes in July 2025 as part of a broader review of mutual fund categorisation. The aim was to improve clarity, introduce new schemes and address the issue of portfolio overlap across different schemes. At that time, the regulator had said mutual funds should be allowed to offer different types of schemes in the solution-oriented category with varying mixes of equity and debt, provided the asset allocation was suitable for the scheme's stated objective.

Private philanthropy to rise 9-11 pc through FY30

NEW DELHI

Private philanthropy in India is estimated to have reached Rs 1.43 lakh crore in FY25 and could grow at a 9–11 per cent compound annual growth rate through FY30, driven largely by family giving, a report said on Thursday. The report from Bain & Company and Dasra said that the momentum is led by family giving among ultra high net worth, high net worth, and affluent families, driven by rising wealth, increasing formalisation, and episodic mega donations.

India's social sector funding has doubled to about Rs 27 lakh crore in FY25 and is projected to reach Rs 50 lakh crore by FY30, the report said. A structural funding shortfall of roughly Rs 16 lakh crore in FY25 is projected to widen to about Rs 18 lakh crore by FY30 underscoring the persistent mismatch between India's development ambitions and the capital available, the report further said.

Public spending still accounts for around 95 per cent of total funding, especially in healthcare as policy momentum builds toward the 2.5 per cent of GDP target.

To bridge the gap, private philanthropy must grow at over 25 per cent annually, assuming public spending trajectories remain unchanged, with scaled contributions from family philanthropy, retail giving, and corporate social responsibility (CSR), the firms said.

The real question is not whether capital is available, rather if it's structured to solve at scale. India's social sector has seen impressive funding growth as the report highlights, but the widening gap signals a deeper design challenge, said Bhavini Malhotra, Partner, Bain & Company. The report highlighted that philanthropy by Indian families account for about 42 per cent of private giving. CSR funding is expected to grow at 8–10 per cent supported by GDP expansion, rising compliance, and a widening corporate base crossing statutory contribution threshold. However, CSR funding remains concentrated in wealthier states, underscoring the need to redirect capital to underfunded regions.

GROWTH MOMENTUM

India's lending AUM hits Rs 130 lakh Crore

MUMBAI

India's lending industry has demonstrated robust growth momentum, with total assets under management (AUM) reaching Rs 130 lakh crore as of December 2025, marking a strong 17% year-on-year increase.

The findings were revealed in a report released on Thursday by Experian, which highlighted sustained credit demand from both consumers and businesses.

According to the report, credit sourcing of new loans in the third quarter of FY26 surged 36 per cent year-on-year, a sharp acceleration compared to 7 per cent growth recorded during the same period last year. The expansion reflects improving economic sentiment and growing appetite for borrowing across segments.

The report underlined that lending activity has been propelled by accelerated sourcing growth, increasing preference for secured lending, and improving asset quality. Notably, asset quality indicators showed positive trends, with payments overdue by 30 days or more declining from 3.9 per cent to 3.3 per cent year-on-year. This improvement signals better repayment behaviour and stronger credit discipline among borrowers.

Secured loans, including gold, home, and vehicle loans, emerged as the primary growth drivers during the quarter. These categories recorded an impressive 42 per cent growth in Q3 FY26, compared to 20 per cent growth in the corresponding period last year. Gold loans played a particularly significant role, especially in the small-ticket segment below Rs 3 lakh, reflecting rising borrower inclination toward asset-backed financing.

The shift toward secured credit indicates a dual trend — borrowers seeking relatively lower interest rates and lenders focusing on risk-mitigated portfolios. Home loans and auto loans also maintained steady growth, supported by stable demand conditions and improving affordability levels.

On the unsecured side, personal loans and consumer durable loans witnessed increased traction, partly fuelled by festive season spending. However, credit card issuance slowed during the quarter, pointing to a more cautious approach by both lenders and consumers in that segment.

Overall, the report suggests that India's lending ecosystem remains resilient, with balanced growth across secured and select unsecured segments, accompanied by strengthening asset quality indicators.

Accused, A Gripping Psychological Drama

MUMBAI

The boundaries of truth, perception, and judgment are tested in Accused, now streaming exclusively on Netflix. Directed by Anubhuti Kashyap and produced by Dharma Productions, the film follows Dr. Geetika Sen (Konkona Sen Sharma), a celebrated gynaecologist whose life unravels when allegations of sexual misconduct emerge.

As public scrutiny intensifies, the pressure seeps into her personal life, particularly her marriage to Meera (Pratibha Rannta), forcing both women to confront trust, doubt, and societal judgment. The film resists sensationalism, opting instead for ambiguity, emotional depth, and nuanced performances that leave viewers questioning the nature of truth.

Konkona Sen Sharma reflected on her role, saying, "Geetika is a woman used to control—of her work, her credibility, her space. What moved me was her internal collapse under scrutiny. I'm glad Netflix is bringing a story that trusts performance and silence over spectacle." Pratibha Rannta added, "Playing Meera meant living in that messy space where you want to trust, but your heart isn't sure. I'm so glad Netflix tells these kinds of real, complicated stories about women."

Told from the perspective of the accused, Accused challenges audiences to examine their own biases and sit with uncertainty long after the credits roll. A tense exploration of power, perception, and the cost of doubt, the film is streaming now, only on Netflix.

Rishab Shetty Silent on Rashmika Wedding Question

Actor and filmmaker Rishab Shetty avoided answering a question about the wedding of Rashmika Mandanna and Vijay Deverakonda during a recent spiritual visit.

The star of Kantara was attending the Guru Vaibhavotsava of Raghavendra Swamy at Mantralayam. He offered prayers and later spoke to the media about his upcoming projects. Shetty described the visit as a lucky and special moment in his life.

While talking to reporters, he happily shared details about his new film, Jai Hanuman, directed by Prasanth Varma. However, when asked about Mandanna's reported wedding with Deverakonda, Shetty chose not to respond. He simply said Thank you and walked away without any expression.

Shetty and Mandanna had worked together early in their careers. Because of this past association, many expected him to share his thoughts. Some believe he stayed silent due to his close friendship with Rakshit Shetty, who was once engaged to Mandanna. Social media users also called the topic sensitive and personal.

Meanwhile, reports say that Mandanna and Deverakonda are now officially married. The couple reportedly tied the knot in Udaipur, surrounded by the beautiful Aravalli hills. The wedding took place at ITC Hotels, Ekaaya, in a traditional Andhra ceremony around 8 am.

Sources say a Kodava ceremony is also planned in the evening to honor Mandanna's roots. Photos from the venue show sweets being shared with photographers to celebrate the happy occasion.

Sini Shetty Joins Dostana 2 Alongside Lakshya, Vikrant

Dostana 2 is set to return with a fresh twist, featuring Sini Shetty as the female lead alongside Lakshya and Vikrant Massey. The film, directed by Advait Chandan, will stream as a Prime Video original under Dharmatic Entertainment, the digital wing of Dharma Productions.

Reports suggest the makers had three contenders for the role before finalizing Sini Shetty. By casting a former beauty pageant winner, the film continues the legacy of Priyanka Chopra, the female lead in the original Dostana. Shetty, hailing from Mumbai with family roots in Karnataka, holds a degree in accounting and finance and has formal training in Bharatnatyam.

She is set to make her acting debut with this high-profile project. The sequel's revamped script explores the chaos of sibling relationships entwined with romance, promising style, humor, and on-screen chemistry. Sini Shetty has also reportedly signed a small-budget thriller, though details remain under wraps. The project originally began in 2019 with Kartik Aaryan, Lakshya, and Janhvi Kapoor, but was paused after Kartik Aaryan exited following 20 days of shooting. The fallout between the actor and Karan Johar made headlines, though they later reconciled while collaborating on another film.

With a new cast and fresh script, Dostana 2 aims to revive the beloved franchise for a digital audience while launching Sini Shetty's career on a high note.

Kerala High Court Halts Kerala Story Release

The Kerala High Court has stayed the release of the film Kerala Story 2 for 15 days. The order came on Thursday, just one day before the movie was set to hit theatres on Friday.

The film had already created strong debate because of its theme and the way it shows sensitive social issues. A group of petitioners moved the court, saying the movie could increase communal tension and disturb public peace in the state. After hearing their arguments, the court passed an interim order stopping its release for two weeks.

This decision is a major setback for the producers, who had spent heavily on promotions and theatre bookings. Advance ticket sales in many centres are now likely to be cancelled or refunded, leading to financial losses. Trade experts say that such last-minute court orders can badly affect a film's earnings, especially when controversy plays a big role in publicity.

The court has not yet given a final judgment on the case. It said the matter needs further examination and will be heard in detail during the stay period.

The debate around Kerala Story 2 is similar to the reaction faced by its earlier part. Supporters say filmmakers should have freedom to tell bold stories. Critics argue that creative freedom should not harm social harmony. In Kerala, both the Left parties and the Congress have openly opposed the film. For now, the film's future depends on the court's final decision.
